

New Framework

Individual players no longer get a vote. Only council members vote.

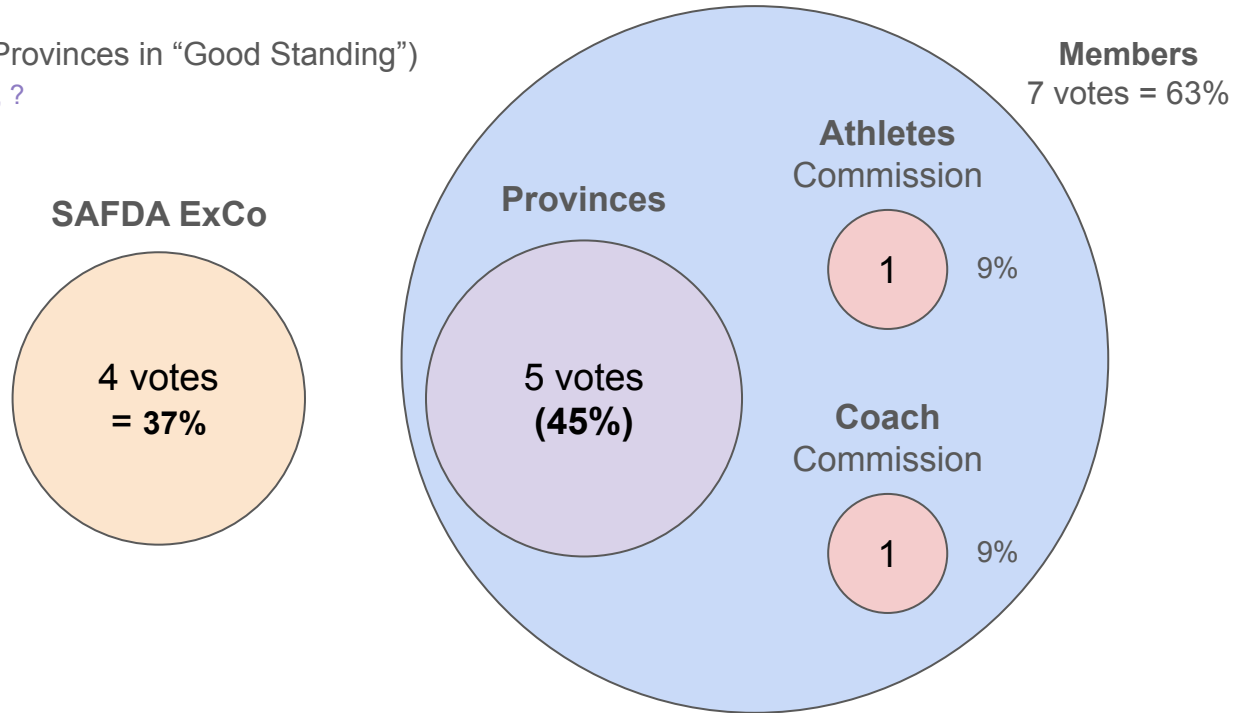

*Exco can add more members to strengthen their voting block even further.

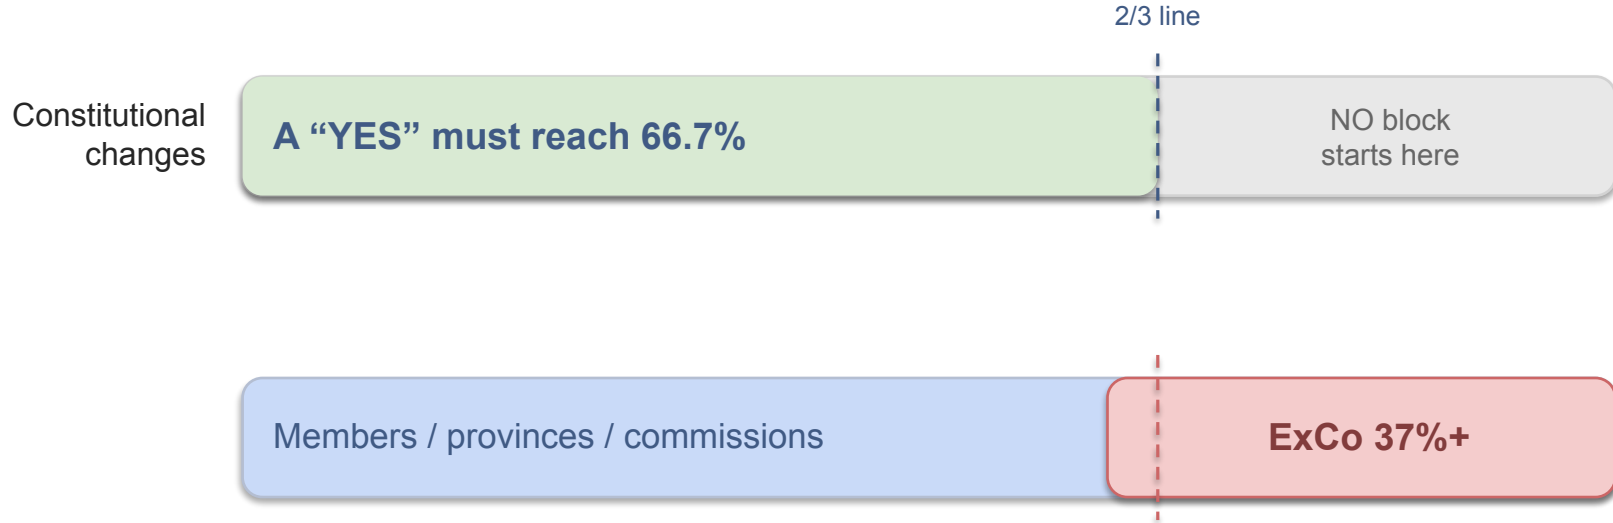

Typical voting power

Best case scenario (5 Provinces in “Good Standing”)

→ WC, EC, KZN, Gauteng, ?

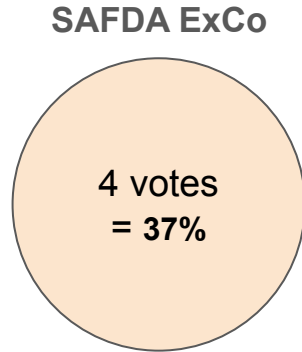

“Fix later” fails the maths

But ExCo alone can block a change, even if the entire community votes for it.
This gives ExCo power over the community from whom they derive their power.

How do other reputable sports associations vote?

Other ExCos

SASCOC = 0 votes

WFDF = 0 votes

SA Rugby Union = 0 votes

Swimming SA = 0 votes

WC Rowing = 0 votes*

Cricket SA = 0 votes

*Chair breaks a tie.

- We should not need to trust the people on ExCo, because we do not know who the next ExCo will be.
- We should only need to trust the constitution itself. Meaning that it should have the necessary safeguards to protect and guide the community effectively.
